

ABSTRACT

An electrical device having a generator, e.g., for use in the vehicle electrical system of a motor vehicle, includes a controller for controlling the generator voltage. In the 5 device, an area is provided in which a voltage control is carried out, and other areas are provided in which a torque control is carried out.